John 4:1-42 is the story of the woman at the well. We read a dramatic reading of this passage put together by Professor Craig Koester of Luther Seminary. You can find that reading at the following link: <http://narrativelectionary.wordpress.com/resources> Click on “script for dramatic reading of chapter 4.”

Also, the message was a dramatic first person account of what the woman at the well may have been thinking when she met Jesus and he told her he could give her living water. You can find this beautifully written account by Sarah M. Foulger at the following link:
